

Once upon a time, there was a strawberry who lived on a plant. The strawberry was very happy and loved to play with its friends, the other strawberries on the plant. One day, the strawberry decided to go to the toy store and buy a doll. The strawberry had never been to the toy store before, so it was very excited.

The strawberry walked to the toy store and looked at all the different dolls. There were dolls of all shapes and sizes, and they were all so beautiful. The strawberry couldn't decide which doll to buy.

Finally, the strawberry saw a doll that was just perfect for it. The doll was small and pink, with big blue eyes and long blonde hair. The strawberry loved the doll and knew that it had to have it.

The strawberry went to the counter and paid for the doll. Then, it carried the doll home to the plant.

The strawberry was so happy to have its new doll. It played with the doll all day long. The doll was the best friend that the strawberry had ever had.

The next day, the strawberry took the doll to show its friends. The other strawberries were all very impressed with the doll. They had never seen anything like it
